

WHAT IS SPECIAL ABOUT THIS SPECIAL ELECTION ON NOVEMBER 8th?

Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger called a special election when many areas were not scheduled to have an election at this time. The taxpayers will spend $50 million to have this special election. But there is no shortage of political advertisements from special interest groups. Are you confused by all the short political spots you are hearing about the propositions in the media?

Come hear speakers from the League of Women Voters and Planned Parenthood give us an in-depth analysis of the propositions. Also learn about the three propositions upon which AAUW took a position. Some of the controversial issues are: 1. The waiting period and parental notification before the termination of a minor's pregnancy; 2. Permanent status for public school teachers; 3. Use of public employee union dues; 4. State spending and school funding limits; 5. Reapportionment; 6. Discounts on prescription drugs (2 versions); and 7. electric service providers.

Do not let a small percentage of the voters decide the future of these thought provoking and controversial issues on the ballot. Come and prepare yourself to cast an informed vote.
